Indian Army Face To Face With Pakistan Troops

TEL AVIV NAVAL BATTLE

Isreal Claims To Have Beaten Off Egyptian Ships

HAIFA, June 4. (Reuter): Ships of the Israel Navy, Tel Aviv shore batteries and the Jewish Air Force in a combined operation to-day beat off an attack by four Egyptian ships on the coast near Tel Aviv shortly before 2-0 p.m. a Jewish 'communique' stated.

All four ships retired after a three-hour engagement during which a Jewish bomber scored at least one direct hit, the 'communique' said.

One Jewish plane had not yet returned.

Egyptian naval forces attacked the Port of Caesarea, 30 miles north of Tel Aviv, sinking one vessel and scoring direct hits on port installations, Cairo claimed.

HEAVY FIGHTING

On land, fighting in the Tel Aviv area developed into the heaviest yet on the southern front.

Fighting was also reported in the Negev, southern desert area, where the Egyptians say they have isolated Jewish settlements from northern Jewish areas, and in the north where Syrian forces claimed to have set fire to a Jewish settlements three miles south of Lake Tiberias.

Jerusalem was quiet yesterday.

From Amman it was reported that heavy Iraqi reinforcements, with big guns rolling in their train, were advancing through Transjordan Hill country last night for the Palestine front.

Egyptian pilots described "big fires" rising from targets in and around the Tel Aviv area from high explosive and incendiary bomb attacks and claimed direct hits on Jewish armour and supply convoys near Isdud, south of Tel Aviv.

Jews claimed to have struck at two Arb land positions, one to the north-east and the other in south Palestine.

Egyptian tanks and armoured cars cut off from the main army were shelled and bombed at Isdud, twenty miles south of Tel Aviv and large fires were started, Haganah said in a 'communique' in Haifa today.

Overnight, Jewish forces broke through the outer defences of the Arab stronghold of Jenin and were today battling house by house for the town while their artillery shelled the centre. Iraqi troops put up strong resistance the Jewish army reported. Jenin is the apex of the socalled "Arab Triangle" which it forms with Nablus and Tulkarm.

BARI, June 3 (Reuter)—A Yugoslav civilian plane landed at an airport near here tonight with passengers who were reported to have forced the pilot to fly to Italy at pistol point. The pilot of the plane—which carried 22 passengers and six crew belonging to the Yugoslav civil airline—said the plane was en route from Belgrade to Serajevo on the normal service when the radio operator and of the passengers armed with a revolver forced him to fly to Bari.

DESTROYED BRIDGES AND UNEXPLODED MINES

Blocks On Advance From Uri: "Slogging Match" For Infantry

SPECTACULAR AIR OPERATION SAY LEH IN LADAKH

SRINAGAR, June 3 (A.P.I.): Well-trained enemy troops, believed to be regular Pakistan troops, are facing the Indian army on the hills overlooking Chakothi, 12 miles beyond Uri on the main road to the border, writes an API correspondent.

From interrogation of captured prisoners and from other evidence, it is authoritiatively stated that no less than three to four battalions of Pakistan forces are operating in this area.

They are armed with 3.7 Howitzers, three-inch mortas and medium machine-guns. They receive their supplies by motor transport.

Chakothi itself is in "no man's land," dominated by both Indian and enemy troops from the surrounding hills.

Advance in this sector is most difficult and has to be made over unbroken mountain ranges rising upto 9,000 feet. When our troops advanced from Uri about a fortnight ago, they found destroyed bridges over the swift-flowing Jhelum, lashing itself to fury against boulders, and numerous road blocks. Mines were lifted outside Uri while a box of mines which the enemy had no time to lay, was recovered later. The enemy had prepared his bunkers well in advance and our troops had to fight for every hills feature. Support from the air and from armour is very valuable, but mainly it is an infantry war—a "slogging match" with a well-armed and well-trained foe".

INITIATIVE WITH INDIAN FORCES

Ticks, fleas and flies see to it that the troops do not have adequate rest. D.D.T. is constantly sprayed in the bunkers

Despite all these obstacles, the initiative is firmly in our hands and it is the enemy who is wondering what will happen next.

Meanwhile, in the Handwara sector, Indian troops have cleared an area fifty miles long and thirty miles wide, thus removing the threat to the flank. When Tithwal was captured, our men found abandoned rations and ammunition stocks. In this area small pockets of the enemy are in a tight corner. The lucky ones will manage to escape across the hills, but the rest will be wiped out.

Among the troops who have taken part in these operations are Madrasis, Sikhs, Garhwalis, Rajputs, Jats, Gurkhas Dogras etc.

The National Militia is being employed on static duties releasing the regular army for operational duties in forward areas.

The Kashmir Government and the National Conference are helping the Indian Army in securing stores, in reorganising liberated areas, in making roads and in repairing bridges.

SPECTACULAR AIR OPERATION

A spectacular RIAF air transport operation, involving landing on an air field 11,187 ft. above sea level the world's highest air strip—has placed Leh in Buddhist Ladakh out of danger.

Frantic messages were being received from Leh that the enemy was within a few miles of Leh and immediate reinforcements and supplies were needed. The RIAF came to its rescue, beating even its record at Poonch. To reach Leh, RIAF pilots had to fly without oxygen 19,000 ft. high over the mountains.

First to land in Leh—on May 23—was Major-General Thimayya, G.O.C., pilotted by Air Commodore Meher Singh. General Thimayya, who took with him some supplies to our troops, was presented a silk scarf by Klon Chhewang Rigoin, President of the Buddhist Association. Air commodore Meher Singh also received a similar present The flight was very bumpy and only the previous night there had been a fight for the bridge at Khalatse.

Major Prithvi Chand and Captain Kushal Chand of the Dogras, both of them Buddhist, have been holding Leh and its approaches since December.

There has been increased enemy activity in Gilgit and Ladakh recently Facing us are tribesmen from across the border, deserters from State forces and locals. They come along the Indus down the Burzil pass to the Deosai plains, to the Gurais area, to Skardu and to Kargil and then towards Leh. From Leh to Manali in East Punjab is a seven-day march.

INDIA LEADS PROTEST

Ambassador To Iran Demands Reciprocal Treatment

TEHERAN, June 4. (Reuter): India's first Ambassador to Persia, Syed Ali Zaheer, led a protest against proposed moves to limit the activities of foreign traders here when he called oon the Minister of Commerce to express his "uneasiness" at this Government Bill. He stressed that Persian traders in India have the same rights as Dominion subjects and called for reciprocity.

Strong feelings were provoked in the debate—now adjourned—on the Bill in the Majlis. It is widely alleged in Persia that foreigners are responsible for the general backwardness of the country.

Diplomats of other countries will follow the Indian Ambassador's lead in protesting against the Bill, it was stated here.

ITTEHAD BUSY ORGANISING "SUICIDE SQUADS"

Monckton In "Earnest Consultations": Meetings With Nizam

HYDERABAD (Dn.) June 4 (A.P.I.) Sir Walter Monckton, Constitutional Adviser to the Nizam, will not be leaving for Delhi tomorrow as originally scheduled, it was learnt from inquiries at 'Lake View'. His temporary residence here.

These inquiries revealed that Sir Walter had "no definite plans yet" as to when he would leave for Delhi, but it is regarded as possible he would leave in another day or two after "every avenue of settlement of the Indo-Hyderabad question" had been thrashed out.

After his meeting with the Nizam immediately on his (Sir Walter's) arrival here yesterday it was considered almost certain that he would fly to Delhi tomorrow with the Nizams final reply to the Government of India's proposals.

Sir Walter Monckton is, meanwhile, keeping up his round of consultations which he began on his arrival here yesterday.

Today he again met the Nizam after having spent the earlier part of the day in what were described as "earnest consultations" with Hyderabad officials and political leaders.

Between these "earnest consultations" and his meeting with the Nizam, Sir Walter was present at a special meeting this afternoon of the Council of Ministers.

RAZVI MADE DICTATOR

HYDERABAD, (Dn.) June 4. (A. P. I.): The Advisory Council of the Majlis Ittehad-ul-Muslimeen to-day resolved it will under no circumstances agree to the accession of Hyderabad State with the Indian Union.

The Majlis will also not accept any agreement between the Governments of India and Hyderabad that, it said, will adversely affect the political, economic and social position of the State.

The Majlis Advisory Council set forth these views in resolutions which were claimed to be unanimously adopted and added: The Majlis will not tolerate any kind of interference on the part of the Indian Union in the internal matters of Hyderabad; any differences among its people should be settled by themselves.

The Council empowered Syed Kasim Razvi, President of the Ittehad-ul-Muslimeen to take whatever action he may think suitable in the light of future developments without summoning the Council for consultation.

Earlier, the Council discussed the political situation arising out of the deadlock in Indo-Hyderabad relations.

RAZAKARS SPOILING FOR WAR?

NEW DELHI, June 4 (UPI) With the situation in Hyderabad State having finally reached a climax—for a settlement or a breakdown,—the Fascist-bred Ittehad Majlis is making a desperate bid to support the faltering frame of "Azad" Hyderabad.

Reports have reached here that the Majlis Executive is stoutly opposing, from within, any further attempt to conduct negotiations with the Governmen of India on the basis of the talks that the Hyderabad Premier had at Delhi recently. Already a news has appeared that a "Suicide Squad" of Ittehad Majlis is being organized.

All indications from Hyderabad City and the State districts are that the Fascist hordes have been called to colours every where and they have been appealed to be ready for sacrifices in the defence of Hyderabad. It is learnt that in so far as the cities are concerned, a scheme has been drawn up for Razakars to carry out a campaign of loot, arson and murder. This scheme may be put into force in case the situation reached the final grip.

OFFICIAL PRESSURE

High revenue officials in Hyderabad State are reported to be coercing their subordinate employees to wear Razakar uniforms while attending the offices.

According to a reliable communication from Hyderabad, a high official has directed all the Government servants of his Revenue Department to come to the offices in Razakar dress and to join the Razakar movement.

It may be noted that some days back, a news appeared in the press, ehat the Ittehadi Ministers and even Nawab Moin Nawaz Jung had lined up in a Razakar parade held recently in Hyderabad.

Incursions Into Berar

NAGPUR, June 4 (API): Fresh reports of incursions into the Indian Union territory (Berar) by armed Razakars from Hyderabad States have been received here.

On May 27, six armed Razakars from village Balswangi (Nizam's State) entered village Taradkhed in Buldhana District of Berar and fired one shot in the air. On seeing the villagers the raiders retreated into Hyderabad territory.

Two hours later, the raiders returned with sixty more Razakars. By this time people from surrounding villages had collected and the raiders hurriedly retreated after firing one shot in the air.

Meanwhile a section of the armed force arrived on the spot which prevented further incursions into Indian territory.

The Central Provinces Government have taken a serious view of this raid and have protested in strong terms to the Nizam's Government, it is learnt.

One armed Razakar was captured by some residents of village Januna in Buldhana District of Berar when he was found hiding in a nearby jungle with loaded gun. The Razakar was handed over to the police, and a case under the Arms Act has been registered against him.

MALAN TO GO ALL OUT AGAINST NON-WHITES

Will Block Asiatic Land Tenure Act

PRETORIA, June 4 (Reuter)—One of the first acts of Dr. Daniel F. Malan's new Nationalist-Afrikaner administration in South Africa will be to block or repeal the Smuts Government Asiatic Land Tenure and Indian Representation Act which lays down that Europeans be elected to the new Parliament to represent South African Indians, Political Observers considered today.

These observers thought South Africa was unlikely to break away from the British Commonwealth and become an independent republic.

Nationalists have also repeatedly expressed their determination to abolish the representation of Cape Province non-Europeans in the Assembly by three European members and to confine such representation to the Senate. But Dr. Malan will find it difficult to carry this out at present.

Nationalists have frequently pressed for a separate roll for the coloured Cape Province voters.

The Communist Party may be banned. Throughout the war, and since, nationalists have worked against it, blaming it for much of the non-European crime, shortage of coloured farm workers, strikes by coloured workers and other developments.

Above all they detest the Communists for advocating black and white equality and for the way Europeans and non-Europeans mix at its public functions.

Dr. Malan will make his first broadcast to the Union as Premier tonight, speaking first in Afrikans then in English.

First aim of his Cabinet will be to win friends among the English-speaking South Africans and among industrial workers in the big cities.

With no members on the Government benches who speak English in their homes—though all ministers and many members can speak English fluently—and with a bare majority in the Assembly, the Government will be anxious to win more English-speaking friends in the Union.

The Nationalist manifesto promised that the Republic question would not be an election issue, and since his victory Dr. Malan has stated the new Government would not secede from the Commonwealth It is certain there will be no move towards a republic during the life of this tenth Union Parliament. Apart from all else, the Government lacks the two-thirds majority in both Houses necessary to make such a constitutional change.

In For Bad Time

DURBAN, June 3 (Reuter)—Mr. Manilal Gandhi, 54 years old second son of the late Mahatma Gandhi and Editor of "Indian Opinion" the leading Indian South African newspaper, said today that non-Europeans in South Africa were "in for a bad time if the brutally frank election utterances of the new Nationalist Government were put into action."

He hopes Dr. Malan's party would "not be so ruthless as it had professed to be before coming into power."

At the same time the Joint Passive Resistance Council of the Natal and Transvaal Indian Congresses decided to suspend their passive resistance campaign pending an interview with Dr. D. F. Malan's Government.

Announcing this the Council said it wished the interview to be held in an atmosphere removed from strained conditions and without prejudice.

The Council said it was aware that the Nationalist Party believed in segregation which was repugnant to the Indian people.

The Council would continue its opposition to injustice and oppression, and desired to co-operate with all other freedom-loving sections of the South African population and continue its demand for full citizenship for the Indian people

NANKING POLICY CRITICISED

Plea For Good Relations With North China Regime

LONDON, June 4 (Reuter): The British "China Campaign Committee" in a statement last night advocated that Britain should establish strong economic and cultural relations with the regime in Northern China, adding it was now clear the present Nanking Government held out no hope of democratic reform or of stable and popular government.

Despite large scale United State's assistance, the statement added that there had been an accelerating drift towards economic chaos and military defeat.

The Committee said U.N.R.R.A. supplies to China worth £8 million mostly in machinery and capital goods had been left to rust on the wharves or sold to the highest bidder. A large programme of U.N.R.R.A assistance had been "ruined by corruption, inefficiency and political discrimination", the statement claimed.

SYRIA TO BREAK WITH FRANCE

The Arabs resented French "pro-Jewish manoeuvres" he said.

German Trade Revival Hampered By Russians

BERLIN, (IPS):—Revival of German trade is being seriously hampered by the huge Russian owned industrial combines in the Soviet zone of Germany, according to the Anglo-American authorities in Berlin. These combines have refused to take part in the inter-zonal trade. Their products and profits go to Russia. The Western authorities have dubbed them as "illegal and foreign-owned monopolies being worked with German materials and labour."

Kashmir Commission Leaves For Geneva

Armed With Comprehensive Plan Of Action

LAKE SUCCESS, June 4 (Reuter)—Members of the Security Council's Kashmir Commission were leaving here today for Geneva, where they will hold their first meeting on June 15 cables Reuters Correspondent Michael Fry.

The Security Council's decision last night to instruct the Kashmir Commission to "study and report" on the questions of Junagadh, genocide and the alleged non-implementation of agreements "when it considers it appropriate" is not to be taken as an admission by the Council that a 'Prima facie' case on these isses exists, informed circles here emphasise.

The British text, which was in fact only a drafting amendment of one proposed by M. Faris Al Khoury, President of the Council, was intended to convey the general feeling of the Council that more information on the three subsidiary questions was required before the Council could rule on their validity as complaints.

The Indian Representative, Dr. P. P. Pillai, had asked the Council to leave these metters entirely outside the work of the Commission. The majority of members, however, considered that as long as there would be a Commission on the spot it could, if it thought fit, look into the merits of the Pakistan accusations.

It is stressed in Council circles that the resolution passed today in no way suggested that the Commission shall "investigate" the Pakistan charges as if a prima facie case had been established which could justify such an investigation.

The purpose of the British amendment, proposed by Mr. Valentine G. Lawford, was to make it perfectly clear that if the Commission considered it appropriate it could, at its own discretion, gather information for the Council's guidance. This was the general feeling of other members, who felt that they did not know enough about the three subsidiary issues to justify and decision or action. Plan of aclin.

The Commission is to supervise the holding of a plebiscite in Kashmir this year, to decide whether the state shall be incorporated into India or Pakistan.

The members of the Commission are Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Colombia, United States and Argentina.

The Commissions is leaving here, armed with a comprehensive plan of action, but as both India and Pakistan have announced that certain parts of this plan are "unacceptable" it is expected that the Commission will adapt itself to the conditions it finds on the spot.

The India Pakistan issue, meanwhile, remains on the Security Council's agenda, to be dealt with later in thelight of the Commissioners report.

SECRETARIAT PERSONNEL

The members of the United Nations Secretariat who have been selected for the Kashmir Commission, are fairly representative, and carefully chosen on their merits.

The principal secretary has not yet been decided upon, but his deputy will be Dr. H. Bloch, an American, who has, until now, been chief of section in the armaments and enforcement measures section of the security council.

The two assistant secretaries are Mr A. Aghassi, of Iran, and Mr. A Campbell, of Canada.

The Legal Officer has not yet been chosen. the administration and financial officer will be Dr. Elavomir Brzak who is a Czechoslovak member of the Personnel Department at Lake Success.

The press officer is Wielliam Clark, on leave of absence from the United States State Department's Office of Information and cultural affairs.

Other staff for the Commission include M. Silvain Laval, French Interpreter, a Movie Cameraman and four women secretaries — two Canadians and two Americans. Two additional secretaries will be recruited locally.

Some of the members of this staff were sailing today in the liner "Britannic". The principal Secretary, whose appointment is expected in a few days, will go to Geneva by air for the inaugural meeting on June 15.

BRITAIN ADMITS 350,000 REFUGEES OF WORLD WAR II

It said in the last nine months, Britain had given bome to nearly 50,000 DPs. The United States, fifth on the list, had admitted 13,594.

BOOMERANG!

If the detention of Mr. H. S. Suhrawardy on his alighting from the plane at Dacca is a surprise, the reasons advanced for this course of action are even more astounding. The East Bengal Government in a press note finds fault with Mr. Suhrawardy for wishing to promote communal harmony and to prevent the exodus of the minority community from the province. It is quite satisfied with the manner in which it is tackling this problem, and it is happy that its work is appreciated in a section of the Calcutta non-Muslim press. It believes that by insisting that more should be done Mr. Suhrawardy is trying to keep up the impression that the minorities are ill-treated and to overthrow the State. It does not think that Mr. Suhrawardy who professes loyalty to the Indian Dominion, should be allowed to take part in the internal politics of the Pakistan Dominion. It questions the honesty of Mr. Suhrawardy's declared intentions because of his activities in the past in connection with the movement for an independent sovereign Bengal and because of his present failure to work in Union districts for the cause which he champions. It asserts that it has proof that Mr. Suhrawardy is still working for a United Bengal. In the face of this attitude, Mr. Suhrawardy has wisely decided to return to Calcutta.

Even this does not amount to a reason though it does add up to a very lame excuse. The East Bengal Government has interpreted questioning of its treatment of minorities as subversive work. After all, it is not conclusive proof of the success of an administration's minority policy that the administration itself is satisfied. Even the most tyrannical Government believes, or asserts, that its minority policy is above reproach. In fact, it is the beginning of consideration for minorities when a Government wonders whether all is well with its minorities. By this showing, the smugness of the East Bengal Government is the greatest point against it. The admission that Mr. Suhrawardy's propaganda might create an impression "in this province" that the minorities are ill-treated, seems to reveal a very real fear that the ex-premier of united Bengal might persuade the majority to a more liberal view of minority rights than the East Bengal Government would appreciate. In other words, there is already in East Bengal a large and important body of Muslim opinion which is far ahead of the Government.

It is presumably this feeling of insecurity that has led the East Bengal Government to ignore the Inter-Dominion Minorities Agreement which is in force to-day. This agreement works on the Suhrawardy case in two ways. Firstly, the agreement not to indulge in propaganda against either Dominion has a special validity in Bengal. West Bengal newspapers cannot indulge in questioning the assertions of the East Bengal Government regarding improvement in minority confidence without laying themselves open to the charge of trying to sabotage that Government. Therefore, their acceptance of East Bengal's claim is not of very great value as proving the rightness of the claim. In fact, the present action against Mr. Suhrawardy fully vindicates even those editors who erred on the side of caution. Since their own Government has approached the press not only of West Bengal but of all India, there was the added reason not to give any excuse for Pakistan to denounce the agreement on the pretence of breaches on the Indian side. Secondly, if the pact's provision against propaganda for re-union is to be seriously respected, then the East Bengal Government was obliged to place its evidence of Mr. Suhrawardy's continued campaign for Bengal Union before the Union Government and leave it to that Government to take action against one who, East Bengal admits it, is accepted as a loyal citizen of the Union. Particularly is this so when his Union citizenship is made the reason for refusing him any part in Pakistan's internal politics. On its own showing, the East Bengal Government could have kept Mr. Suhrawardy away from its frontier but it could not detain him. It is significant that whilst the press note mentions representations to Mr. Suhrawardy, nothing is said of any reference to the Union Government. Here is a serious breach of diplomatic etiquette. The Government of East Bengal cannot have it both ways. It cannot for some reasons deal with Mr. Suhrawardy as a seditious citizen and for others treat him as an alien.

The East Bengal Government mentions in its press note the Bengal unification campaign of Mr. Suhrawardy in the pre-partition days. This seems a hardly reasonable accusation. It would be wise for East Bengal to follow the policy of the Union Government and leave aside the past attitudes of politicians. The press note refers to evidence of Mr. Suhrawardy's professed interest in communal harmony being just "eyewash". If this is so, the East Bengal Government which spurns representation to the Union Government, should at least place the evidence before the public and let us judge for ourselves. If Mr. Suhrawardy's attempts to "foment trouble" had support in East Bengal, then surely his detention alone will not end the trouble. If there are accomplices, why has East Bengal not moved in a round-up of the other agitators? If Mr. Suhrawardy was without support, then his detention becomes a superfluous act. The curious part of all this is that, under the East Bengal Public Safety Order, the Government is under no obligation to explain its action. That in spite of this blanket protection, the Nazimuddin Government should think it necessary to issue an explanatory press note—and a clumsy one at that—bespeaks an uneasy conscience.

Apart from all these technicalities which do not interest the common man, the detention of Mr. Suhrawardy for working for communal harmony in Pakistan territory and to prevent the mass exodus of the minority community bodes ill for the minorities in Pakistan. Nothing Mr. Suhrawardy could have said about Pakistan, in Pakistan, could be worse than the charge of genocide levelled by Pakistan's Foreign Minister, Sir Mahomed Zafrullah, on the world platform of the Security Council. Yet should Sir Mahomed desire to come and preach communal harmony and reassure Muslim minorities in India, he would be welcomed with open arms and helped in every conceivable way, even though it might seem a superfluity. To us it is confusing to understand why the East Bengal Government should declare in effect that nobody should demand on behalf of the minorities more than the Government itself is prepared to give. That the penalty for such agitation should be detention is itself amazing. If this is what can be done in Pakistan to a citizen of India, what would not happen to one who is under the power of the Government there completely? The East Bengal setup has landed itself in a mess. It will be interesting to see how it will be extricated by Pakistan's Centre.

African Shadow

The installation in office of Dr. Daniel F. Malan's Nationalist-Afrikaner cabinet in South Africa has raised genuine apprehensions in the minds of South African Indians about the fate that awaits them. The Coalition parties now in power have expressed strong anti-Indian and anti-African views. Hatred of non-whites and an open and shameless declaration of their intention to dominate and oppress the non-whites was the major plank on which the parties were voted into power. Mr. Manilal Gandhi has expressed the view that non-Europeans in South Africa are in for a bad time if the government begins to fulfill its election pledges. The Passive Resistance Council has decided to suspend its movement and an interview is being sought with government representatives. A meeting of the Natal Indian Congress has revived the idea of a Round Table Conference which should have taken place under the terms of the resolution of the United Nations General Assembly passed two years ago. While undoubtedly the situation does seem gloomy, South African Indian leaders would be well-advised not to yield to despair or give way to panic.

It is one of the tenets of Satyagraha that the greater the forces of evil it has to oppose, the more sure it is of ultimate victory. The situation should be accepted as a challenge which provokes introspection and the regrouping of forces. It is an undoubted fact of the African situation that the oppressed are not united. The moderates, the orthodox Congress and the Communist groups have kept up an interminable fight among themselves. The new danger must bring them together on a common platform, in so far as the battle against segregation and for human rights is concerned. At the same time the new line up of Indians with the native coloured people, should be further built up and strengthened. While the initiative and drive must necessarily come from the South African Indians themselves ,they can always count on the sympathy and support of the people and governments of India and Pakistan as indeed of all freedom loving people anywhere in the world.

Problems Before Madhyabharat

Political, Administrative And Geographical Integration Of 22 Small And Big Covenanting States Will Demand Harnessing Of Best Brains Of The Country

By PROF. SHYAMSUDAR JHANWAR

Only if democracy, progressiveness provincial autonomy and speed are borne in mind and the best brains in and out of the Union are harnessed in its service, the integration of the minor and major states of Madhyabharat into an advanced province ready to grow and develop into an enviable and beautiful area of India, rich in its traditions and culture of the past and potentialities of a glorious future, will be a smooth and easy process.

The Covenant has brought into being the Madhyabharat Union. But the mere affixing of the rulers' signature on the Covenant does not integrate the varying practices and systems rules and laws and procedures and methods of the 22 Covenanting States into one unified and well-knit State. It is for this purpose that the Integration Committee, appointed by the States' Ministry with the concurrence of the Rajpramukh, is busy preparing a Scheme for integrating the 22 Covenanting States. Let us examine the problems of integration that confront this Committee and and try to find out their possible solutions.

The whole problem of Integration may be divided into three main questions: (a) Political Integration, (b) Administrative Integration including Departmental Integration and the integration of laws and systems of tenure and (c) Integration at States' level or geographical integration and formation of districts.

Interim Period

Our approach to the whole problem is guided by the following considerations:—

1. That as far as possible even in the interim period (i.e., before the Secretariat and Departments of the Union Government are able to function in every place) when Administrators may have to be appointed, the people of the area should be associated with the administration. Democracy and the will and wishes of the people should be followed and honoured.

2. That the interim period, during which unification takes place and uniformity is brought about, should be shortened to the maximum possible extent.

3. That when making appointments even on key positions the talent of Madhyabharat should be given preference and it becomes inevitably necessary to import outsiders they should be appointed on the clear understanding that they shall train up local persons within a fixed period, preferably a year, so that Madhyabharat may stand on its own legs as early as possible.

4. That Provincial Autonomy should be respected and that there should be no undue encroachmene the Centre so that centralisation of power leading to corruption is avoided. For purposes of Defence and Order, the Centre must hall the upper hand, but in all other matters the Province must be left free to develope and advance in the way its people choose.

Political Integration

Let us now come to the problem Taking the question of political integration, it may be stated that this is not a difficult matter The Covenant itself lays down that the Rajpramukh shall be the Constitutional head of the State and that that there shall be one Executive and a common legislature. The Judiciary shall also be one although Benches of the High Court shall be both at Indore and Gwalior The Rajpramukh has been appointed, the Cenral Executive has been announced and the Interim Legislature is already in the making. We take the question of the Judiciary below. This settles the question of political integration.

Administrative Integration

This is the most difficult and laborious problem. This entails the integration of the various Secretariats. Departments Customs, Excise, Accounting Systems of tenure etc. It may be noted that the major and minor covenanting States have different systems of tenure, budgeting and accounting-keeping; they have different laws and they follow varying practices in various fields of activities. All these have to be integrated unified and brought on an equal and uniform footing. This wil nessarily require some time But what is desired to be emphasised that all attempts should be made to effect the necessary integration in the shortest possible period. This is not a matter of saying or writing, but that of doing and essaying to achieve the object. The intervening period, between the inauguration of the Union on the one hand and the accomplishment of complete administrative integration on the other, will be marked either by chaos or by bureaucratic rule of the Administrators, and so it is extremely necessary that unification is secured very early, thus placing the different subjects and areas under the direct control of the popular Ministers.

In this connection it may be suggested that the plan of the administration in the Provinces should be followed by the Madhyabharat Province. According to this plan, the spinal cord of the whole administration is the Secretariat. Eight or nine Secretaries may be appointed by the Union Government who will be in charge of the whole administration and all the Departments. According to such a plan a Secretary may take orders from two or more Ministers Being given enough powers to dispose of all routine matters, he performs a major portion of the work leaving the Ministers free to lay down policies, to apply their minds to planning and to the study and solution of advanced and intricate problems of administration and governance.

Public Service Commission

From amongst the Secretaries already working in the different States, the Public Service Commission of Madhyabharat may appoint the Secretaries of the Union Government. Gwalior and Indore are the two major states and necessarily the choice, in the majority of the cases, will fall on the Secretaries of those two states. It would be desirable to appoint the deputy secretary from Gwalior if the Secretary is appointed from Indore and vice versa. One might also suggest that in the beginning only provisional appointments may be made. On almost the same lines departmental integration may also take place.

As regards Customs and Excise, inter-state customs barriers must disappear simultaneously so that no loophole is left for smugglers and profiteers; and gradually the Union Government should also adopt a planned policy of prohibition. For some time customs may continue to be levied at the boundaries so long as progressive taxation of the type of Income-tax, Death Duties, Corporation Taxes, etc., is not introduced in the taxation structure of the Union.

The different years for the purpose of budgeting etc., in the various States should be changed and the budget year of the Union should be from 1st January to 31st December or such other period. Till 31st December 1948 the current budgets in the different states may continue with certain modifications for the respective areas which will now become districts of the Union.

The entire police force including Intelligence should be brought under the control of the Inspector-General of Police of the Union.

The Judiciary

The integration of laws and courts will require great effort. What has been done by the Bombay Judiciary when the Deccan States were merged with Bombay, may also be followed by Madhyabharat in this sphere. The Bombay Judiciary, with the concurrence of the Bombay Government, sent judicial officers to the merging states to note and study the laws prevalent in the states and now the States' laws are being brought on par with the laws of the Bombay Presidency. In Madhyabharat the problem is more intricate as the number of states is greater and as the laws in the different states vary very greatly. The judiciary of Madhyabharat, which must be independent of the Executive, should send its own officers and judges to visit all the states and to collect and examine all the laws. Then a committee may be appointed to integrate the laws and while doing so it may be remembered that the laws should become more and more progressive.

Before 1st 1948, an Ordinance should be passed constituting a High Court for Madhyabharat. Then a Chief Justice, as also eight or more puisne judges, should be appointed. All matters which may be lying before the High Courts of the different states will, after the high Court of the Union is constituted, go to the Union High Court. Thus integration of higher judiciary will be brought about.

As integration of laws and establishment of subordinate courts of the Union will take some time, the subordinate courts in the different states may be permitted to function according to the laws of the respective states, so that a vacuum leading to confusion and unrest may not be created. It must, however, be noted here also that no time should be lost in integrating the laws of the states and in establishing Union's own subordinate courts. We would also like to point out that in the case of those small states, which have intermingling boundaries, there should be only one court. In case of Rajgarh and Narsingarh States there are many island villages of neighbouring States Even before these two or more states are formed into one district, and a district court established, a common court for these states may and should be established.

Integration Of Land Revenue Systems

The important question of integrating the revenue systems including the system of tenure and the problem of Nambardari, Jagirdari Zamindari etc., will require a great deal of dynamic thinking and planning. In Gwalior State, for exemple there is a special system known as the Nambardari System, which is different from the Jamindari System in that the Nambardars in many cases hold small areas of land and are themselves, in the majority of cases, cultivators. Again in the Gwalior State, the Jagirdars posses a very large area, whole in Indore this problem, as a problem, is conspicuous by its absence. The assessments and settlements in the various states were made at varying periods and the methods of fixing and

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Word Of Warning

India's Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru has dropped a hint which both friends and critics will note with interest. He has shown that his socialist faith is in no way dimmed. Only as Prime Minister he cannot be swayed by slogans but must look to the practical working out of policies. He has raised the question of government's social policy on two fronts, namely Capital-Labour relationship and the Consumer-Producer interests. The first need of to-day is production. There can be and there are no differences of opinion about that. But if production suffers there must be something wrong somewhere. One source of trouble is conflict between Capital and Labour. The Government of India has called a halt to this conflict. It has devised a machinery for impartial adjudication, so that amicable settlement can be reached. But the conflict continues and production suffers. Pandit Nehru stated the plain truth when he said whoever is responsible for a fall in production is guilty of a crime against the nation. It then becomes the duty of the Government to prevent such attempts. Government is pledged to explore all means of increasing output and towards that end eliminate conflicts. It proposed a truce for three years and has done everything that could be done by it to implement the truce. If its attempts are thwarted—and it does not matter who is responsible—the alternative is that Government must step in and run the industry.

Inevitability Of Nationalisation

Pandit Nehru indicated the inevitability of nationalisation in another set of circumstances as well. He pointed out how controls led to blackmarketting and corruption. The people suffered due to controls and there was all round clamour for the removal of controls. But when controls were removed prices went up. As far as cloth is concerned we have witnessed and are still witnessing an unprecedented price-pushing racket. Here again the blame does not attach to one party. In fact it seems difficult to determine exactly who is responsible and to what extent, while each cries "wolf" to the other. As Pandit Nehru put it "everybody seems to profit at the cost of the unfortunate consumer and government." He further said that some way will have to be found to check this profiteering. He appealed to owners and managers of factories to understand that "the State cannot possibly permit a state of affairs to continue which interferes with the general welfare of the people". With particular reference to the textile industry he stated that if "it cannot function effectively for the good of all it will have to be nationalised."

Self Interest Or National Welfare

These remarks have a wider application. The industries would do well to pay heed to this solemn warning by the highest authority in the State to-day. The Government has already set out its policy with regard to nationalisation in the clearest possible terms. It does not wish to pursue nationalisation as a matter of ideological or doctrinaire indulgence. It believes that there is a wide scope for private enterprise and that such enterprise can play a vital and useful role in national reconstruction. But the reconstruction itself must come first and the agency second. If private enterprise knows its own interest, it should realise that there is no antagonism between its interest and that of the general welfare of the community. If it does not realise that broad principle but insists on pursuing a mirage of exclusive self-interest, it is doomed to self-destruction. It should not go so far as to force the hands of government to alter its present liberal policy of not only tolerating but fostering private enterprise in the hope that private enterprise is patriotic enough to see what is the good of the nation

Change In Outlook Needed

The Government of India has announced a new recruitment drive in an effort to get proper personnel for the Indian Administrative and the Indian Police Services as also for certain other gazetted posts under the Government of India. Under this scheme men are to be recruited from higher age groups from all walks of life. The drive has been necessitated by the depletion of the ranks of officials due to retirement. Many officers, chiefly British, have left service because of the political changes that have taken place in recent months. The present move is in the right direction so far as it goes. There is, however, a clear need to revise the general recruitment policy in all classes and categories of public service. During the last 20 or 30 years, ever since the battle against alien rule was clearly joined and boycott of government agencies became a national policy dictated by the highest patriotic sentiment, Indian youth has generally been reluctant to enter government services. The best in the land sought other avenues of employment. Now that we have our own government the conflicts of earlier years have ceased to exist. Government needs all available talent for its many and ever expanding needs. Therefore a broad system of recruitment whereby competent men in all walks of life can honourably enter government service will have to be devised. So far employment in government has not been free from suspicions of nepotism and back-stairs intrigue. This has kept off the more self-respecting and more sensitive persons. The first condition of any radical improvement of the public services is the removal of the feeling that still persists—the feeling that office is a matter of reward for loyalty, not a matter of fitness or competence.

Mediator's "Optimism"

Count Bernadottee says he is "very optimistic" about his chances of arranging a four weeks' truce in Palestine. It would be foolish for anyone to embark upon a job saying that he was despondent about the chances of success. Actually, the mediator faces a problem, which is more than merely difficult. The Jews seek to interpret the Security Council resolution as assuming the reality of the State of Israel, thereby committing the Security Council to recognition of its de facto existence. But it is precisely a Jewish State that the Arabs cannot tolerate and the establishment of which they are out to oppose at all cost. Naturally enough they demand, as a condition of the truce, the abolition and repudiation of the State of Israel. That state is the vital issue on which the parties have taken mutually destructive stands. Count Bernadotte will have achieved a miracle if he succeeds in reconciling these stands.

"Ready To Help"!

Meanwhile, there is an interesting report that the Americans are preparing to accept an invitation, which they confidently anticipate from the Mediator and the Security Council, an invitation, namely, to participate in the body which will be set up to supervise the truce. "American Army, Navy and Air Force officers", says a Washington report, dated Thursday, "were standing by today ready to fly to Palestine to help implement any cease-fire order that might be issued". The eagerness of America is understandable. Was it not President Truman who, within fifteen minutes of the end of the British mandate, recognised the State of Israel even before any actual information of its inauguration had reached the United States? Which raises the question as to who should participate in the Truce organisation. The proclaimed efforts and activities of the U. S. Government, as also of the Soviet Government, the powerful support of Zionism and the State of Israel make of such countries non-combatant belligerents in the war that is going on in Palestine. It is obvious how American military officers—and, we presume, Soviet officers too—will function. If these states are to help in implementing the truce, so should the Arab States. For, the former are no more qualified than the latter to assist in the task of establishing and maintaining a four-week's cease-fire.

Hyderabad Manoeuvres

Signs of an impending settlement between India and Hyderabad are manifesting themselves Speculation is increasing as the atmosphere grows more uneasy. From a ten years' grace to the Nizam to an ultimatum, every possibility has been suggested—and many impossibilities. Rumour has it that India's Agent-General in Hyderabad is considering resignation Why? The probabilities are that the office will be abolished very soon. With accession, of course, there will be no need for an Agent-General. If there is by some fluke to be no accession, then it will be hardly possible for Mr. Munshi to continue in Hyderabad against the strong feeling he has provoked from that section which bids fair to be the ruling class in the event of independence. Mr. Munshi may spare himself the energy of another useless gesture. Meanwhile, diplomatic forces are converging on Delhi and with Jawaharlal's return to the capital, negotiations will begin again.

Tête-à-Tête

WITHOUT COMMENT.

PESHAWAR—Afridi tribesmen of the Frontier province, it is learned, have requested the Pakistan Government to arrange for their passage to Palestine as early as possible. The tribesmen, it is stated, intend to send to Palestine a fact-finding mission to study at first hand how matters stand there.

The Government of India, we are most keenly interested to note, have decided to recruit to the Indian Administrative Service and the Indian Police Service men from all walks of life in India.

Please Sir, are journalists too qualified..... for which act of kindness we shall ever pray etc., etc.

At the ECAFE conference, Dr. S. P Mookherjee declared that if Western countries urged the principle of 'equal access to raw materials' as an inherent right, "then we demand the cognate right of 'equal access to capital equipment'".

This is an entirely original point being introduced altogether unexpectedly into the problem of international economy. And we suggest that representatives of the Western countries—with M. Novikov giving some opinion in Russian—should ask for a fortnight's adjournment to consider the situation created by Dr Mukerjee.

The Kashmir Government has denounced as "completely baseless" Sir Md. Zafrullah's statement that a quarter million Kashmiris had fled from the areas occupied by the Indian Army.

The Kashmir Government is mistaken. Sir Md Zafrullah did not address himself to the Kashmir Government or even to the mythical quarter million. He meant the statement as a gesture of supreme hospitality: a typical Pakistan dish for the consumption of Kashmir Commissioners

At the Security Council Dr. C. P. Pillai pointed out that when the Council set up the Kashmir Commission by its June 40 resolution, it had heard both parties fully on the Kashmir question, but at that time it had heard nothing yet about the three subsidiary issues

But, my dear fellow, he doesn't understand. Sir Md. Zafrullah had not till then been instructed to instruct the Security Council to submit its respectful and obedient ears to those three issues.

By the way, by the Council's latest resolution, "the Plebiscite Commission" is instructed to proceed without delay "to the areas of the dispute".

In view of (a) the interest that Mr. Jinnah has now consented to express in Hyderabad and (b) the provocative manner in which nationals of India have reacted to (a) Mr. M. A. H. Memorandum To Jinnah

(From Our Correspondent)

KARACHI, (by Air Mail).—"That the agricultural lands belonging to Hindus still residing in Sind also are being auctioned very cheaply and possession given to the refugee Muslims" is one of the main grievance of the minorities of Sind which the Hyderabad Minorities Association has put in the form of a memorandum to the Quide-e-Azam Jinnah, the Governor General of Pakistan.

The memorandum while expressing satisfaction at the Indo-Pakistan Minorities agreement, has pointed out that the minorities in Sind are being subjected to a number of hardships, including (1) Muslim refugee tenants refuse to pay rents to Hindu house-owners (2) A vexatious search of evacuees' luggage still continues (3) no receipts are given for the articles confiscated and (4) there is a regular move to enter into Barrage and Revenue department records as abandoned property agricultural and residential properties belonging to non-Muslims without instituting proper enquiries.

In another memorandum, the Association has drawn the attention of the authorities concerned to the breaking open of seals of several Hindu temples and their occupation by Muslim refugees for residential purposes.

"That a considerable number of Central Government employees have taken unauthorised possession of houses in the city before receiving allotment orders" was the fact revealed during question time in the Pakistan Consembly when the Finance Minister was replying to short-notice questions.

The Finance Minister concluded by saying that "the Sind Government instead of evicting such unauthorised occupants, have made arrangements to find out whether it is essential for all or any of them to continue in their unauthorisedly occupied houses.

PROBLEMS OF MADHYABHARAT

collecting the revenue and the systems of tenure also present a differing variety. All these have to be integrated in the best possible way placing the interests of the masses above all other considerations.

A Central Revenue Authority or a Board of Revenue should be established for the Union. This revenue authority may be assisted by a judicial member with whom appeals regarding revenue cases may lie. It would be necessary here also to send out experienced revenue officers to visit the states and to collect data on various subjects regarding revenue matters. In the interim period it would also be necessary to send out judges or other authorities to decide revenue appeals.

Administrators

An attempt has been made above to give an idea of how integration may take place. It may be mentioned that before the Union secretariat and the departments are able to function effectively some machinery will have to be provided to take the place of the Governments of the Covenanting States when they hand over their charge of administration to the Union. This machinery may be provided in various ways. Either Administrators may be appointed for all the states or the states may be grouped into some seven groups and then administrators may be appointed for them or administrators may be appointed only for those states or groups of states in which popular ministries are not functioning at present, leaving the administration of the states, in which popular ministries hold the reins of power, with the popular ministers who will now work under the Union Government. And when Administrators have to be appointed it should be seen that they work on the advice of an Advisory Council, which, should be formed out of the workers of the Prajamandal of that area so that people of the area may be associated with the administration. It may also be provided that generally the Administrator will not take any action which is disapproved by the majority of the Council. Further, every attempt should be made to remove the existing ministries in the states, if allowed to continue after the 1st July and the Administrators in the shortest possible period so that the people are directly associated with the administration of the Union by popular Ministers. This is possible only if the Ministers of the Union are working with a drive and vigilance and the people of the area are conscious to exercise their civic rights.

We now come to the last point—how the boundaries of the different states are to be integrated and how districts of the Union are to be formed? What is imperative is that when forming such districts, one should not think in terms of the old states of Barwani, Dhar or Dewas. The whole area which today constitutes the State of Madhyabharat should be divided into suitable geographical districts. For this purpose an expert committee should immediately be appointed which will recommend how and what districts to form. Only when these districts are formed and administrative machinery established in the districts, the people would practically realise the birth of a Province, and only then would the entire working and governance of the whole province be uniform, integrated and orderly.

Before the districts have been formed, the Administrators shall have to be appointed to run the administration. But even here as soon as the Central Secretariat or the Central Department is able to function in a particular subject in any area, the subject should be taken over by the secretariat leaving the other matters, for the time being, with the Administrators. The taking over of all charge by the Union Government may proceed both subjectwise and areawise according to the needs and convenience of the situation.

Merger Of Smaller States

To begin with, some of the smaller states may be merged with the adjoining bigger states or groups of neighbouring small states may be formed and they may tentatively be divided into working district, but simultaneously an expert committee must also be appointed to form the stable and final districts of the Union. This work should also be expedited.

Only if democracy, progressiveness, provincial autonomy and speed are borne in mind, shall we be able to integrate the tiny and large States of Madhyabharat into an advanced and glorious Province ready to grow and develop into an enviable and becautiful area of India, rich in its traditions and culture of the past and with all prospects to be richer in wealth and talents in future.

Our Orissa Letter

Widespread Discontent Over Transfer Of Two States

FEDERAL COURT MAY BE MOVED TO GET STATES MINISTRY'S DECISION NULLIFIED

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

CUTTACK, (By Air Mail).

The decision of the States Ministry to transfer the states of Kharswan and Saraikella to Bihar has caused widespread disappointment, discontent and dissatisfaction throughout the province of Orissa as also at other places where Oriyas live. The entire province received with greatest amount of surprise that the administration of the two states would be handed over to Bihar on grounds of administrative convenience overlooking the cultural and linguistic considerations which have bound the said two states with Orissa since time immemorial.

Complete hartal has been observed in several towns of Orissa and a number of protest meetings have been held throughout the Province as a mark of disapproval of the decisions of the States Ministry in this regard despite the Provincial Government's attempts to pacify the enraged feelings of the people over the unhappy decision. Even the Congress leaders including the President of the Utkal P.C.C. and the P.W.D. Minister Sri Radhakrishna Biswasroy could not suppress their feelings of sorrow over the decision and they have in the course of their statements have sounded a note of warning to the Congress High Command and the Central Government that if the wrong done to the Oriya people by such a decision is not righted soon the future of the Congress in this Province would not be bright enough. The newspapers of the province are already full with statements condemning the States Ministry and criticising the Provincial Government for arriving at such a decision without consulting the people and for carrying on negotiations on such a serious question under the shadow of secrecy.

FEDERAL COURT TO BE MOVED?

Suggestions are made in some quarters to move the Supreme Court or the Federal Court of India against the decision of the States Ministry in order to get the decision legally nullified. Some of the newspapers and publicmen have charged the Central Government for allowing themselves to be swayed away by leading Congressmen of Bihar who in the opinion of these papers and authors of statements, are bitterly parochial and diseased with provincialism. Some of the newspapers including the leading Oriya daily "Samaj" have left their editorial columns blank as a mark of protest against the unjust and improper decisions of the States Ministry who have by such a decision have thrown to the winds the fundamental principles of the Congress on distribution of provinces on linguistic basis. Like the people who identiy themselves with politics the students, the ladies and the laymen appear to have been greatly shocked over the announcement of the Government of India transferring the two Oriya states to Bihar and even the Government employees were equally griefstricken. They had decided to tie black ribons around their arms to record their silent protest against the injustice done to their province but official restrictions prevented them from demonstrating their utter disgust against the decision of the Government of India.

There are suggestions from the public that the Orissa Ministry should openly dissociate from the Central Government on this issue and tender their resignation and that the Utkal P.C.C. should also adopt a similar course to demonstrate to the world that a wrong has been done to the Oriya people by the Central Government.

Outtack the metropolis of Orissa observed a peaceful hartal on 24th May and at a largely attended public meeting later in the evening, a resolution recording its amphatic protest against the decision of the Central Government on the question of Saraikella and Kharswan states and urging upon the Government of India to return the said two states to Orissa was unanimously adopted

MOVE TO REVIVE EASTERN STATES UNION

The popular resentment among the people of Orissa is also taken advantage of by a section of Orissa leadership for the formation of an Union of the Orissa and Chhatisgarh states. Attempts are being made to hold meetings and muster public opinion in favour of the revival of the Eastern States Union. It is reported that a meeting of the people of Bamra state which was recently held at Deogarh for the purpose regardless of the Orissa Government's ordinance had to be dispersed by a lathi charge by the police resulting in injuries to some. Several others have also been taken into custody and some of the members of the Raj family have been, it is further learnt, been externed from the state. Reports are being received here that Oriyas of Saraikella and Kharswan are now leaving the states due to illtreatment by the Biharis and the Bihari officials. It is also reported that attempts are being made to take away several other Oriya states to Bihar under the guidance of Bihar leaders and the Adibasi leader Mr. Jaipal Singh

COMMUNIST AGITATION.

While in one hand the provincial Government is greatly concerned over the province-wide resentment over the Centre's decision on Kharswan and Saraikella states, the Communist agitation in the other hand is giving a serious headache to the Ministry. The agrarian troubles in several parts of the province seems to be gaining strength and the plague spot of the trouble appears to be the district of Ganjam. About a dozen of prominent Communists of this district are now wanted by the Police but they are not yet traceable as they have gone underground. It is just reported from Shergada Zamindary in Ganjam that some ten persons have been killed by Police firing which had to be resorted to when an armed crowd prevented the Police from taking about fourteen persons from that locality under arrest. Although details of the firing are not available till the time of writing yet it is feared that the casualty figures would be considerably greater than reported so far.

Besides this, province-wide searches have taken place in recent weeks and several arrests have also been made including the arrest of Com. Sailen Mahapatra and Com. Sadanand Mohanty at Balasore and Ganjam districts respectively. Some prejudicial articles are also reported to have been seized at some places by the Police during their surprise raids. It may be remembered that about half a dozen Pro-Socialist workers of Puri district were arrested at Tangi and subsequently released on bail.

The nomination of Hon'ble Sri Nityanand Kanungo Labour Minister, Orissa as one of the delegates of the Government of India to the international labour conference to be held at Sanfrancisco next July has enabled for the first time a son of Orissa to represent in an international conference. The appointment of Sri S C. Tripathy, the Director of Public Instruction, Orissa as a member of the Federal Public Service Commission appears to be a step in the direction of putting Orissa a little more prominently on the administrative map of the country.

STIPENDS TO POOR STUDENTS.

The Government of Orissa have, it is authoratatively learnt decided to take over the direct management of all the educational institutions of the integrated states and have decided to constitute a fund with an initial grant of Rs. 1 lakh for granting loans and stipends to poor students in those states. Another sum of Rs 3 lakhs has also been sanctioned by the provincial Government for the construction of a number of wells with a view to relieving the water scarcity of the people of the Orissa states. It is understood that one third of the actual expenses for the construction of these wells will be realised from the people who would be benefitted by the wells and the amount would be realised either in terms of cash or in the shape of labour.

The Government of Orissa have decided to continue payment of dearness allowance to Local Fund employees at the existing rates for a period of one year with effect from 31st March, 1948, it is officially learnt.

Britain's Import Programme May Be Revised

Cripps Warns Against Rise In Prices

LONDON, June 3 (Reuter): Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, warned that Britain's import programme would have to be examined again if the prices other countries charged for heir goods continued to rise and British export prices lagged further behind them.

He told a press conference that "April brought no unpleasant surprises" in the drain on gold and dollar reserves. Part of what Britain has been spending will be remibured by E.R.P. and it would be misleading therefore to publish figures.

He said that although the figures for imports for the months of March and April were not good news. "The rise in export above the target rate in volume is good news".

The visible adverse balance for the half year has been shaping at £ 160 million, against the forecast of £ 87 million in the Government's economic survey.

Most of the departures from the esetimate was because imports from the rest of the world had cost more than was expected.

NEW DELHI, June 3, (A. P I.): Lieutenant-Colonel G. S. Destitutes will be given two thousand rupees without any condition, while the farmers will get tagavi and free seeds. Houses that are intact are being returned to their owners, while timber and corrugated iron sheets are being given for the repair of partiality damaged houses. SHANTARAM JUGGLES WITH LITERARY HISTORY

Pathos Deteriorates Into Bathos To Provide A Happy Ending

BY "SARDI"

Time was when every new Shantaram film was an event in film circles. That time now seems past. Rajkamal's MATWALA SHAIR RAM JOSHI, currently showing at the New West End, revives, here and there, echoes of the old glory—but they are merely feeble reverberations.

Ever sensitive to good story material, the producer has chosen for his latest picture, the life of Ram Joshi, a shining light of Maharashtrian literature, whose career is pregnant with incidents of great dramatic import. So far so good; the pity is that Shantaram has taken undue licence in meddling with historical facts to supply a happy ending which actually comes as an anti-climax.

NO SUBTLETY

The film begins well enough. The main trouble is that the hackneyed problem of caste conflict is hammered home with an absolute lack of subtlety. This emphasis on the deplorable treatment of Sudras by the early Brahmans, may today be good box-office, but it is singularl y bad "theatre", one of the important functions of which is "the art that conceals art".

The pungency of the dialogue in these passages, is lost owing to the obvious being so painfully belaboured. These scenes amount to nothing more than "playing to the gallery", as the saying goes; only, in this case, it would be to the nine anna rows.

If orthodoxy is to be attacked—and it MUST be,—the attack should be through the medium of satire, which is infinitely more telling than vitriolic outbursts such as are perpetrated by the Brahmin characters in the early scenes. Of course there are those who would confuse lampooning with vilification; but such persons should go to school to rid themselves of their abysmal ignorance.

FILM OR OPERA?

Ram Joshi, the budding Sholapur poet, defies the Brahmanical puritanism of his elder brother, and against the narrow principles of one born of Shastris, joins a band of strolling players.

Here we are treated to the songs of Narendra and Niranjan, set to music by Vasant Desai. Tuneful as the melodies are, there is such a large dose of them that one feels one is given too much of a good thing. The by-play in song, of Ram Joshi and Baya who becomes his mate, begins by being amusing and ends with making one yawn at the unceasing pleasantries that are accompanied by the gauche antics of some of the other characters, who are obviously meant to provide cheap comedy for the delectation of the beloved "masses".

This being the film biography of a poet, there is some justification for the introduction of a number of songs. But need the picture have been converted into an opera for the greater length of its footage? Besides, the background for the melodies is often tawdry, these being itinerant players who move from place to place in carts.

DISTORTION

Ram Joshi rises to great eminence when at Poona, the reigning Peshwa commands him to perform in the Palace, and confers on him the title of Kavi Sartaj and bestows on him the jewel that is an insignia of his rank.

Success goes to the poet's head like the giddy wine he consumes in inordinate quantities. Squandering his wealth on drink, he sinks so low, that when Baya is ill and he borrows money for her medicine, he actually wastes it on liquor! What a powerful climax this would have made—this degradation of a great man's soul. It would have been true to historical fact, too.

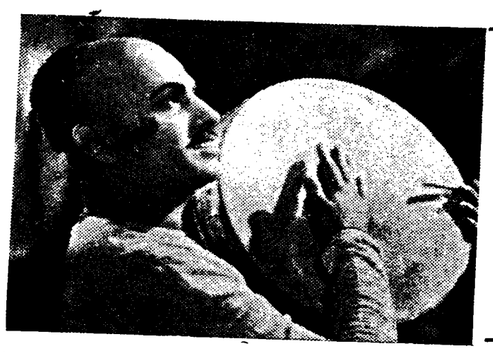
This is where Shantaram takes a sharp detour and juggles with literary history. He goes on to show us Ram Joshi's redemption—something that never occurred! Pestered by the moneylender whom he owes the sum borrowed for Baya's illness, he is brought to his senses by an admirer who persuades him to sing at a 'puja' in his creditor's home. After that, the poet takes to singing 'bhajans' and is revered by his brother and all the Brahman Elders who had opposed him in his early years.

Thus the pathos of the man's degradation has been turned into the bathos of his redemption artificially tacked on to the finale to provide a happy ending at the expense of dramatic import!

AVERAGE PRODUCTION

Shantaram has not chosen big names for his cast. In the Hindi version, Manmohan Krishna enacts the title role. He has a pleasing voice but too lustre-lacking a personality for the part of the fiery poet. Hansa over-plays as Baya. Ditto Purshuram as the comical Dhondhi who first infects Ram Joshi with love for the theatre.

Shantaram's far-famed artistry remains completely hidden except in some scenes such as the temptation of Ram Joshi to drink while his wife lies ill. Had the producer concentrated more on the vast dramatic possibilities of his theme and less on the musical angle, this might have been another Shantaram epic. As it is, it turns out to be merely an average production.



Jairam Shiledar plays Ram Joshi in the Marathi version. The same role is enacted by Manmohan in the Hindi film.

FORGING AHEAD WITH DOCUMENTARIES

Zils Does It Again

The much-neglected field of the Documentary in India, is at last receiving the attention it deserves, thanks to the pioneering efforts of men like Paul Zils.

Three more DUI shorts, following close on the heels of the UNO-sponsored documentaries, were previewed at the Strand, last week. In two of these WHITE MAGIC and THE KURVANDI ROAD, the naturalness which marked the acting of the players in the former films, was once again evident. As documentaries are meant to be factual pieces of cine-reporting, lack of camera-consciousness in the subjects, is a great asset, for it imparts a realistic touch to the films.

In the third short, KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOUR, I found absolute realism missing, due to the artificiality of some of the players such as Bapsy Sabavala. Towns people are apparently not such 'naturals' as village folk whose simplicity is their finest attribute resulting in spontaneous response to the director's handling.

GRAPHIC SHORT

By far the best film is "The Kurvandi Road", a story-telling documentary. It emphasises the need for villages to be connected to towns by means of roads, so that in emergencies, medical and other aid may easily be rushed to the peasantry.

Photographically, the picture is most satisfying as it combines artistry with technicality. The simple tale of how a village girl's death, due to the late arrival of the doctor who is hampered by the absence of a road, results in the construction of one, is so graphically told, that the lesson is assimilated in the process of entertainment.

Paul Zils's handling of the village crowds, is remarkable for one who is not of us. It clearly indicates that he is with us in our problems of village uplift. The little boy who portrays the girl's brother and the old man who plays her father, both disport themselves like seasoned actors.

I hear this particular film may be released throughout the country, on the United Artistes circuit. It promises to go down well with the general public who normally display a marked preference for the story-telling documentary rather than any of the four other types.

MAGIC FOR HEALTH

"White Magic" is an aptly titled short on the need for more and better milk in the diet of growing children. It compares the superior milk-providing methods of the U.S.A., leading to adequate nourishment of its citizens of tomorrow, to our own wholly insufficient and poor arrangements.

The Kurvandi Road under construction.

Being a sponsored documentary, it advertises the fact that Horlicks may be used as a good substitute for pure milk till such time as we completely overhaul and improve our dairy-farming processes. The point, however, is introduced with subtlety, so that it does not appear intrusive.

Pictorially, this film is as pleasing as the other, particularly in the village scenes.

"Know Your Neighbour" turns out to be a somewhat confusing document, owing to a lapse on the script-writer's part. The short first leads one to believe one is being taught to judge character accurately; it then makes one imagine it is attempting to inculcate road sense, and ends up by declaring that appearances are deceptive! A change of title to "Some Faces Tell, Some Don't", would convert it into a fine and humorous documentary.

SEAL ON EFFICIENCY

The narrator for the three films, has a good voice. Unfortunately, at times he is given to being unduly declamatory. This appears rather out of place in such scenes as the girl's death in "The Kurvandi Road". If he could learn to modulate his speech to suit changing scenes, he would make an excellent narrator.

Paul Zils deserves praise and encouragement in his pioneering work. "The Kurvandi Road", certainly sets the seal on his directorial efficiency.

Allotment Of Land To Refugees

In view of the fact that the East Punjab Government have finally decided to confine allotment of land and other benefits exclusively to refugees from West Punjab, the Ministry of Relief and Rehabilitation has decided that in the allotment of agricultural land in Delhi Province preference should be given to refugees who held or cultivated land in N.W.F.P., Sind, Baluchistan or Bahawalpur. In any case, the area of land available for allotment to refugees from these Provinces is small and little or no land is likely to be left over after eligible refugees from the said Provinces are provided for.

The Custodian of Evacuees' Property, Delhi, has therefore cancelled the appointments for the 3rd and 4th June at Chattarpur for allotment of land to refugees from West Punjab. All concerned are, therefore, requested not to be present at the place and dates mentioned above.

A small turnovr in business for want of further incentive terminated the short session of the final day of the settlement period. As on the previous day the market displayed a complete lack of interest, and business seemed to have completely dried up.

WALL STREET MARKET CLOSES BARELY STEADY

NEW YORK, June 3

At the Stock Exchange continued demand for selective industrials brought gains covering one dollar, but elsewhere price changes were fractionally mixed. The industrials average advanced to a further new high level for 1948 featured by equipment issues textiles, oil, motors containers and chemicals.

Some quarters express the opinion that rail carriers will be virtually inactive until the current wage question is settled and the Government relinqishes control. The averages were Industrials 191.48 rails 60.77.

In the afternoon apart from selectivy favoured industrials, other sections developed a heavy tendency chiefly reflecting lack of interests. The market was fractions to one point irregularly lower including asserted rails, steels, oils, aircrafts, motors and rubbers. Rubbers failed to attract supporting bids in face of estimates that second quarter earnings of the U. S. Rubber Company have shown an improvement over the initial quarter. Chemicals, however, were mostly higher with production running five to ten per cent ahead of the record 1947 rate. The averages generally finished somewhat lower. The market closed barely steady.

Chicago Grains

Chicago Grains were firm early under the leadership of maize reflecting continued dry weather and firmness of the cash market. However increased profittaking attracted by the recent sharp advances subsequently erased most gains. Mills purchased wheat on expectations of increased export flour sales to Holland, Sweden and Italy for June shipment. Washington reports indicated that the house appropriation committee would reduce European aid funds by 1/4 and if adopted by Congress, it may cut the anticipated Government financed exports of wheat, cotton, tobacco coal and farm machinery.

BOMBAY COTTON

Bombay, June 4

The local cotton exchange ruled irregular after opening quietly steady. Undertone was easy.

July opened at Rs. 708, and after fluctuating between Rs 700 and Rs. 711 hovered around the opening level.

September opened at Rs. 713, and after declining to Rs 705 advanced to Rs. 716 to be ultimately steady around Rs. 713.

Easy tendency of the market continued till the end, and higher levels were followed by persistent long liquidation which brought the prices to lower and lower levels. Under heavy selling pressure July dwindled down to Rs. 689 and September to Rs. 695. Mild buli support at there low levels however prevented further decline. The market closed easy as under:

New York Cotton Quiet

LONDON, June 3

Cotton ruled quiet but steady throughout the morning with traders proceeding cautiously, pending clarification of the export picture Meanwhile modest trade buying and price fixing possibly in connection with sales to Japan maintained a relatively steady undertone. On the other hand the ever present export uncertainties and favourable crop weather news plus dullness of cotton textiles continued to restrict speculative activity.

In the afternoon prices declined sharply with liquidation prompting some stop losses influenced by Washington reports that the House Appropriations Committee were seeking to cut available Eurepean aid funds by 25 per cent and also E.C.A. warnings that they would not authorise sale to foreign countries, of products when the prices were considered too high. Threats of curtailment in the textile industry unless buyers reenter the market was a contributing factor. The session closed barely steady. Sales are estimated at 150,000 bales.

Russia Cancels Part Of Reparation Due From Finland

HELSINKI, June 3 (Reuter)—The Finnish foreign office announced today that the Soviet Union had decided to cancel part of the remaining reparations deliveries due from Finland under the armistice and peace treaties.

The value of the cancelled deliveries is about 70,000,000 dollars.

Announcing its decision to the Finnish Government, Russia said:

"It must be seen against the background of the initiative taken in this matter by the Finnish Cabinet's three Communist Ministers, Yajoe Murto, Finnish Minister for Supply, Martti Janhunen, Minister for Social Affairs, and Yajoe Leino, the former Minister of the Interior.

The Soviet decision was welcomed today in Helsinki. Finland was to have sent 300,000,000 dollars worth of reparation goods at 1938 prices to Russia over 80 years from 1944, placing a heavy strain on the country's economy.

On the other hand the decision is interpreted here as a gesture to help the Communists in the general election on July 1 and 2.

British Reaction To India's Embargo On Cotton

LONDON, June 3. (Reuter): Mr. Harold Wilson, President of the Board of Trade, said in the House of Commons today that he was taking up with the Government of India the position caused as a result of the Indian embargo on the export of short-stapled raw cotton.

Mr. Harold Sutcliffe, Conservative member for one of the Lancashire constituencies, had asked what was being done to ensure a continuance of supplies "in view of the serious position arising from the embargo."

Mr. Wilson replied "I am aware of the embargo and I am taking the matter up with the Government of India."

KARACHI, June 4. (U. P. I): The Pakistan Government, in an notification issued yesterday, has restricted import of salt from India. The import is allowed only under a licence to be issued by the Chief Controller of Imports from the port of Karachi.

Problem Of Controlling Floods In Asian Countries

E. C. A. F. E. Refers Question To Expert Committee

NOVIKOV'S WARNING AGAINST FOREIGN CONTROL OF IRRIGATION SCHEMES

OOTACAMUND, June 4 (API): The problem of flood control in Asian countries was discussed by the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East at its sitting today.

The subject before the Commission arose from a suggestion by the Economic and Social Council that the Commission at its present session should recommend an organisational pattern for a bureau of flood control which, when established, might study the technical problems of flood control in Asia and the Far East.

FRENCH DELEGATE'S SUGGESTION

During a general discussion on the subject this morning M. H. C. Maux (France) suggested that what was needed now was not the creation of a new organ to go into the question of flood control, but a small bureau which would co-ordinate the work of and give advice and disseminate information to the different national organs dealing with flood control which were already in existence.

The French Delegate suggested that the proposed bureau must be a small body of not more than three members, with high technical qualifica-

Stressing the importance of the tions, who would be in a position to give practical advice. He also suggested that the discussion may be postponed for a few days, so that the countries interested in this matter might meet and suggest a precise proposition for discussion.

Dr. Shyama Prasad Mookerjee the Leader of the Indian Delegation agreed with the French Delegate that a small committee of representatives of countries interested in this problem should consider the subject.

problem of flood control. Dr. S. P. Mookherjee pointed out that half of the 1,000 million human beings in the E.C.A.F.E. region lived in great river basins. He detailed the work being done in India on flood control and pointed out that while it was necessary to take up flood control as an urgent objective, it should not be forgotten that this question was inter-related to the problem of conservation and utilisation of water for irrigation and power purposes.

Haji Mohamed Eusoff (Malaya) said that the problem of water control differed from country to country in Asia and the Far East. Thus in Malaya they did not have Ayangtse, Irawaddy or Ganges and so he suggested the problem should be dealt with on a national basis.

NEEP FOR GROUP OF EXPERTS

Dr. C. M. Li, (China) agreeing with the French delegate said what was needed now was a group of experts who would be immediately available for consultation on active operations for flood control. He did not however think that this group should be so small as suggested by the French delegate. He stressed that the work of this group should have close relation to actual operations and not be academic.

M. K. V Novikov (Russia) wanted Asian countries to be wary of establishing flood control, irrigation or hydro-electric projects under foreign control. He said it would not be difficult to give examples for such foreign control and said that possession and control of hydro-electric projects gave considerable economic control for foreigers in these regions. He stressed that such projects must be financed and operated by the countries concerned themselves and suggested that the bureau proposed should be composed only of nationals of the ECAFE region.

Mr. E. E. Ward (Australia) said that in view of the fact that the exact form of the proposed Bureau or Committee was undecided, the matter be referred once more to the Secretariat which, in consultation with experts, could make a final recommendation to the next E.C.A.F.E. session.

Dr. L. K. Hyder (Pakistan) was against the establishment of a Central Bureau of Flood Control. He suggested that each country should have a well-equipped national organisation to deal with the question and that officers of those organisations should visit their opposite numbers for understanding common problems. He also suggested occasional joint meeting of those national organisations under the auspices of the E.C.A.F.E. for exchange of experiences on common problems.

U. K. AGREES WITH INDIA

Sir Andrew Clow (Britain) said that the United Kingdom agrees with India that one of the primary needs was the securing of more data.

He was inclined to support the view that it would be better to have a small expert organisation rather than a big Flood Control Bureau.

Dr. Grady (U.S.A.) wondered how a small group of experts as proposed by France could function property. He hoped that the Committee studying the problem would define clearly how the proposed body would function. He wondered if the best result could not be obtained by creating a small section in the Secretariat that would not involve additional expenditure and would serve as a clearing house for projects in the whole area and getting information about them.

After the general discussion the subject was referred to a Committee to be composed of countries directly interested the matter.

The next item dealt with was inland transport for Asia and the Far East.

On behalf of the Indian Delegation Dr. Shayama Prasad Mookherjee moved: "The Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East takes note and endorses the recommendation of the Transport and Communications Commission for the convening of an early meeting of inland transport experts of the countries rtpresented on ECAFE to examine: (A) the problems with respect to rehabilitation and co-ordinatsd development of inland transport iacilities and services in Asia and the Far East (B) the means which are best suited to promote the solution of these problems, either by setting up regional machinery, or otherwise (it being understood that any such machinery would be part of ECAFE and expresses its intention to convene such a meeting and to take preparatory measures pending the approval of the recommendation by the Economic and Social Council."

The Commission then adopted a report on statistical and economic documentation and adjourned till 10 a.m. tomorrow when it is expected to take up again the question of associate membership including the application for membership of Indonesia.

Less Drastic Than In Other Provinces

GOVT. DEFENDS BOMBAY SECURITY ACT

Provocative Writings And Inciting Platform Oratory Force Hands Of Authorities

Replying to the critics of the Bombay Public Security Measures Act, the Government of Bombay says that in the face of provocative speeches from the platform, campaign of scurrilous abuse and highly inflammatory writings in the press it had no other option but to enact the special legislation for the maintenance of law and order, to augment the existing inadequate law.

The Government of Bombay has been closely following criticisms in the press and on the platform directed against the Bombay Public Security Measures Act during the last few months. This legislation has been variously described as a drastic measure intended to be used against political opponents or as an assault on the civil liberties of the public, these criticisms have also ignored the fact that similar legislation was enacted in other provinces of the Indian Union at about the same time as it was enacted in the Bombay Province.

CRITICAL TIMES

In common with other provinces, and in a greater or lesser degree on different occasions, Bombay has also been passing through critical times for the past two years.

While the then-steadily worsening situation in the province undoubtedly called for stetrn measures, the Government of Bombay did not wish to be stampeded into any action not in consonance with the spirit of true democracy. The Government, therefore, dealt with the situation as it arose from time to time with a great deal of restraint.

But there was no sign of any improvement in the tone of certain sections of the press in the Bombay province nor any moderation in some of the utterances on the platform.

NEED FOR SPECIAL POWERS

The Government of Bombay was compelled to the conclusion that, for the maintenance of law and order, the powers available under the existing law were inadequate and had to be augmented, if necesary, by special legislation.

A few specimens out of the scores of highly inflammatory writings alone will show the serious risk taken by the Government in postponing action as long as they did.

The unbalanced and extremely provocative writings covered a wide range of topics of vital importance to one section or the other of the general public and, therefore, contributed in a large measure to distrust, hatred and strife leading to human suffering and bloodshed.

BASELESS REPORT.

Thus, currency was given to a baseless report that one lakh members of a particular community were killed and so many lakhs were driven out of a state in northern India; a certain community as a whole was dubbed as "butchers"; exaggerated and bloodcurdling descriptions were given of a tragic incident, thus creating an explosive in Bombay in an atmosphre that was otherwise steadily returning to normal; according to one newspaper, villages had been reduced to dust, children had been thrown into the fire, and not a single member of a certain community had been left in a territory in upper India.

In a campaign of scurrilous abuse, not even the greatest son of India—Mahatma Gandhi—was spared. The epithets used were such as to provike bloodshed on a large-scale, apart from the national disgrace involved in that unbalanced mentality. The abortive attempt on his life at Birla House was applauded and another, and a successful, attempt was foreshadowed and extolled in advance. An attempt to bring his voice into the homes of Indians through the Radio was described as a "madness of the Government" without a parallel.

Conflict between Pakistan and the Indian Union was sought to be created by the publication of a false report that India Government troops were "guilty of murder" in Pakistan territory.

Eulogy of Pakistan, side by side with a subtle denunciation of the Union Government, was the regular trend of another journal in this Province.

Conflict between linguistic regions was also incited by painting leaders of one region as determined to destroy the people or another region.

SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES

A part from the writings in the press which reflected violent tendencies or incited violence, Government had unimpeachable evidence in their possession that certain groups were elaborately planning subversive activities.

Then they decided to arm themselves with more powers to cope with the extraordinary conditions prevailing in the Province.

TWO FEATURES OF ACT

The Government of Bombay would, in this connection, lay special emphasis on two features of the Public Security Measures Act of Bombay as it stands today.

First, there are provisions in the Bombay Act which are definitely less drastic than the corresponding provisions in the Acts of other Provinces.

Secondly there are 44 provisions in the Acts of other provinces which do not find a place in the Bombay Act. This is so in spite of the fact that some of the problems of public safety are no less acute here than elsewhere.

The more drastic powers taken by the other provinces relate to: Detention; Collective Fines; Whipping; and Control of Publication.

ACTUAL POSITION

The actual position is as follows:

1. 'Detention'—While the Bombay Act provides for amending, confirming or modifying the order of detention or replacing it by any other order of detention, restriction or externment, there is no such provision in at least six other provinces.

2. 'Collective Fines'—These fines may be refunded wholly or in part in Bombay, but not so in eight other provinces.

3. 'Whipping'—While this punishment may be imposed in Bombay, only for carrying swords, weapons, corrosive substances or explosives in contravention of orders, whipping may be inflicted in one of the other provinces for offences 16 different sections of the Indian Penal Code.

4. 'Control of Publication'—Under the Bombay Act, the bringing into sale, distribution, or circulation within the province of any newspaper, periodical book or document can be prohibited. But in certain other areas the publication or possession of any newspaper can also be banned.

Then, the 44 provisions in the Act of the other provinces that do NOT find a place in the Bombay Act cover a very wide range of controls, restrictions and punishments.

Under these provisions the authorities in one or more of the other provinces can: (1) Regulate the conduct of a person in any particular manner; (2) Prohibit a person from being out of doors between specified hours or travelling except in accordance with the permission given by a specified authority;

(3) Prohibit or restrict the use of roads or pathways;

(4) prohibit or regulate the use of vehicles or animals;

(5) use force to the extent of causing death to stop the commission of specified offences;

(6) take a search;

(7) compel the assistance of certain persons;

(8) control electric and water supplies;

(9) close educational institutions or taking possession of lands, or buildings occupied or utilised by them; remove any member from the managing bodies of such institutions; dismiss any teacher or expel any student; and withhold any grant made to such institutions;

(10) direct the parent to pay the fine imposed on a young person;

(11) photograph and obtain finger and thumb impressions etc. of suspected persons;

(12) inflict punishment for: Dissemination of rumours; shouting slogans; collecting brickbats or missiles; possession of precribed documents; boycott of public servants; tempering with public servants; participation in mock funerals; membership of any quasi-military organisation; possession of chemicals; harbouring an offender; illegal conversion from religious faith; and procurement or wrongful retention of women or molestation; control the use of loudspeakers, megaphones, etc.; obtain information; and secure reports of public meetings;

Prohibit, restrict or impose conditions on anv processions, meetings or assemblies.

These are some of the 44 different powers taken by one or more of the other provinces: none of these powers has been taken by the Government of Bombay under the Bombay Act.

An unbiassed study of the more drastic as well as the extra powers taken by the other province, against the back-ground of the almost similar conditions in this Province, will convince any fair-minded and responsible citizen that the Government of Bombay has been extremely reluctant to make the Bombay Public Security Measures Act more stringent than absolutely necessitated by the circumstances.

THE SOCIALIST PARTY (BOMBAY): Mr. Jayaprakash Narayan will address a public meeting today (Saturday) at 9 p.m. at the Shivaji Park, Dadar.

Czech Offer To India

CALCUTTA, June 3 (API): M. Rubeska, leader of the Czechoslovakian Tchnical Mission, now in Calcutta, said to-day that the main object of their visit was to find out to what extent Czechoslovakia could be of help to India.

Discussing this question with the Committee of the Bengal National Chamber of Commerce, M. Rubeska said that his country's industries had suffered heavy damages during the war, but she had since considerably recouped herself and was now in a position to export small and light machineries and machine tools in substantial quantities.

As regards prices, he said that Czechoslovakian prices were competitive on an international frame, in some cases even lower. Although prices were quoted on a dollar basis, these were done so with an eye to the fact that these prices were fair in terms of pound sterling as well. Technical men in Czechoslovakia, he added, were prepared to help industrialists in India in planning new industrial ventures, machineries for which were now exported.

POSTAL FACILITIES EXPANDED

More Offices And More Frequent Services

NEW DELHI, June 2

There has been a large expansion of postal facilities in India since Independence Day. This has taken the form of more new post offices in the urban and rural areas, introduction of earlier deliveries and later clearances and increase in their number and quicker and correct delivery of postal articles.

Between August 15 1947 and March 31, 1948, 183 new sub-offices were opened in towns and 1155 new post offices in villages, bringing their totals to 3731 (urban) and 18,149 (rural).

Vigorous efforts were made since November last to ensure speedier and more frequent services. Earlier delivery was introduced in over 400 post offices, the average time advanced being about two hours. Similarly, the hour of posting was retarded in over 500 post offices by about one hour on the average. In over 50 post offices in the urban areas more frequent deliveries were arranged. Nearly 2000 villages, which did not get any "dak" formerly, have now been brought into the postal beat.

Particular mention must be made of Calcutta G.P.O. and the City Sub-offices where, since last Dec. six deliveries have been introduced in the place of four. Likewise clearances from the City Sub-offices have been increased from five to seven.

DRIVE TO ELIMINATE IRREGULARITIES

With a view to increasing the efficiency of the system, nearly 2300 surprise "raids" were made in all the postal circles between November and April. In these "raids" high officials themselves took part in the checking, sorting and detention of mails. The raids are continued every month in pursuance of a drive to eliminate delays and mistakes. In addition, test letters are being posted in every circle to locate irregularities in the despatch, sorting and delivery of various postal articles. Special training is also being given to the RMS and other staff in sorting. It is expected that these steps would result soon in a more satisfactory service to the public.

The Indian Post Office is now handling nearly 25,00,000 postal articles per day, which is computed to be about 2 per cent more when compared to the traffic last year.

REMOVE HUNGER AND POVERTY

LONDON, (IPS):—"We shall not defeat communism by whipping anti-communist hysteria and continuing up how many atom bombs the Americans have. The only way to combat it is to abolish the poverty and the injustice in which it breeds." Thus declared Richard Crossman, M.P. writing in the Sunday Pictorial in an analysis of world situation. "Today most of the industrial workers in France, Italy and other countries are communists. This is not because they are wicked or degenerate but because they are hungry and see no way out under their present Government," he adds. "But it cannot be altered by a witch-hunts. By suppressing democracy they will drive their opponents underground and create the conspiracy." In conclusion he says "The only suitable solution to defend democracy is not to take away liberty but to make it work for all."

Britain Passes "India Speaks"

NEW YORK, June 4 (Reuter)—"Variety" the American entertainment trade journal, reported that the film "India Speaks", which had been banned for exhibition in London for 15 years, "has been finally passed by Britain".

The picture, an 80-minute documentary, was made by American producer Walter Futter, who recently returned to the United States after a two-and-a-half months trip to England.

"The fidm", states the journal, "is now being booked in Britain following issue of a licence by the London County Council".

Mr. Futter said the picture was submitted to the London County Council after the censor refused to consider it.

"Recently withdrawal of Britain from India is understood to have been responsible for the London "greenlight", adds Variety.
